

(This is more comprehensive version after having explained the greater context to your client and new practice member) practitioner's office name and information and NetworkSpinal logo

Your Guide To The Journey

1 - Informed Choice:

True healing and transformation begin with a conscious choice for More

Welcome and thank you for engaging in a collaborative relationship with _____ (DC, print your name), and the staff in an exciting, and profound approach to more than ordinary healing, and the experience and understanding of the forces that organize and enhance your life.

Healing and life transformation require conscious awareness and personal choice.

Please read this document and share any questions you may have. Being unified in a common vision, with the NetworkSpinal strategies that we are delivering to you is essential for an optimal honoring relationship with you, and for your receiving the most effective care. As we proceed in care you will more fully experience how that gets the results.

2 - Extraordinary Healing, a New Standard

You deserve extraordinary and we seek to deliver this to you.

To have Extraordinary, the care requires unique experiences, applications, and outcomes (and at the beginning it may appear strange, different, and unique as it is leading the cutting edge of healthcare).

Our approach and service has been shaped and evolved over decades by patient experiences and outcomes and the forefront of academic research in multiple fields including- healing science, information systems, neuroscience, evolving models of physics, energy and consciousness and other fields.

Our care is applied in an expanded model of healing and outcomes for our times, called EpiHealing^{®1} which strives to help you go beyond mere restoration and comfort into further advancement, being more, and evolving strategies for your healing and personal resourcefulness.

We provide, as part of your care, educational offerings to enhance your understanding and experience on your personalized healing journey and the energetics that create this. For more information, please check: <https://epienergetics.com/epihealing/>

3 - Chiropractic and NetworkSpinal[®]

A different spin on chiropractic and results: NetworkSpinal

We offer a profound solution by helping you develop sustainably new resourcefulness, as well as helping you have more available energy to heal, live, adapt, and make a difference in your life, and over time with our wellness care, in the world.

Our central understanding and basis for the service we offer are based upon a revolutionary approach to healing, consciousness, and life that were taught as tenants of the early chiropractic profession and then advanced and evolved with modern science over the past 4 decades by Donny Epstein, Doctor of Chiropractic.

Many of these leading-edge principles - in neuroscience and consciousness - are also inherent in even the most established spiritual traditions. Within the body and the space around it (called the field) there are innate intelligences that organize one's body and life.

The chiropractic spin is that it is all coordinated and transmitted through the spine and nervous system which translates this organizing information and vibration of creation into physical form. Stretching of the spinal cord and nerves alters its tension and the communications carried between the brain and the body and the field between us. The shape, position and tone of your spine is in relationship to the shape, position, and shape of your life.

¹ Further information about EpiHealing and the NetworkSpinal approach, as well as research on our methods, are available. A summary of much of the Research can be found on the EpiEnergetics Foundation and in documents available in this office.

We seek to help your body self-regulate adverse spinal cord and nerve tension and “subluxations” while supporting the organic development of profound healing and life strategies.

The care we offer you, is designed to optimize and actually evolve or upgrade these healing and living strategies - your spine, nervous system and your information and energy systems and will have profound and real outcomes and results for you -.

The gentle “Network” adjustments, called Spinal Entrainments, are designed to enhance your beingness, increase your brain and spinal nerve coherence, improve brain-body communications, greater “beingness” and evolve new spinal and nervous system strategies for extraordinary healing and extraordinary life.

4 - Unique features of NetworkSpinal

Your own healing “signature” wave and new spinal “gateways” to healing and transformation

A novel feature and hallmark of NetworkSpinal, is the development of the unique spinal information and energy wave that is expressed with spontaneous undulation of the spine. It is associated with unique benefits only demonstrated in the evolving Network systems.

We see this wave as your personalized healing signal. The Network Wave upgrades your central nervous system, spine, and your human OS (operating system) as it is further linked to subtle spinal motion (called oscillation). More energy efficient and effective communication between your brain/mind/body and your energetic field is created and nurtured. Nerve center and spinal oscillation is linked to self-organization, advancing consciousness, awareness, and energy efficiency.

It is designed to help advance human strategies that only develop in this form of healing and life enhancement.

5 - Community and Group Room

Being well and beyond is always a collaboration, a We

In this office you will be part of a dynamic and diverse community of seekers who wish to heal more, be more, give more, experience more, and achieve more. Research papers published in various disciplines indicate that care in group settings, group educational offerings, discussions, consultations and sharing sessions have shown increased effectiveness, understanding, results, safety and follow through.

The space between us is like the “cloud” which contains energy and information, and one person’s enhanced healing and energy efficiency stimulates another’s in close proximity through a process of entrainment or harmonic resonance. Having the chiropractic tables within a critical distance of one another appears to enhance this collaborative effect.

With this in mind, the care you will receive in this office will mostly occur in a group room where one person's healing and increased energetic efficiency sparks another. And, we believe you have the right to community and privacy. Both are sacred rights. In the rarer instances where privacy best serves you, we will do our best to accommodate this desire. Conscious choice is an essential part of all of our healing and growing, and we are here to serve you.

6 - More or Less

Less or MORE

Our starting point in care is with what is your highest goal for you, in your healing and its impact upon your life. We are seeking to advance towards more energy and information efficiency, and more novel strategies for healing and life. And we are looking to expand your strategies that go beyond where you have been in health, along with its ramifications for life.

We will collaborate on those results will have the greatest clinical impact for you. With a healthy and more evolved, vibrant spine, most often many of the other concerns of “moving away from” are no longer relevant. And even in extreme situations, the need for symptoms and other conditions significantly reduces, and unreasonable healing and life outcomes are achieved.

If you seek diagnosis and treatment of a condition in order to restore you to your prior state, please contact a medical physician or other health care provider for such care.

If you are mostly seeking less of something, or an experience where you want to be “fixed” then another office might be better to meet your needs at this time; and in this case we wish you well on your therapeutic journey.

We found that most people do get to a point of seeking to choose to optimize and expand what is possible in their health and life. When this occurs for you and you are seeking the unique service of advancing your healing and human resourcefulness that we offer, we would love to continue to serve you.

If you are mostly seeking less of something, or an experience where you want to be “fixed” then another office might be better to meet your needs at this time; and in this case we wish you well on your therapeutic journey. We found that most people do get to a point of seeking to choose to optimize and expand what is possible in their health and life. When this occurs for you and you are seeking the unique service of advancing your healing and human resourcefulness that we offer, we would love to continue to serve you.

7 - Assessments and Results

Consultation and Assessment Specifically for YOU

After a consultation and assessment, you will be advised as we suggest to you a plan of care. We will share with you, on an ongoing basis, what these subjective and objective assessment tools are, as well as what the results mean for you. We will be comparing our clinical findings with your personal experience and developing awareness of the forces and intelligences that heal and transform your body and life (Creation’s Codes™).

The care we offer you, the objective and subjective assessments, and outcomes are linked to you effortlessly and organically experiencing an upgraded and more energy and informationally efficient (coherent) you. As your human OS upgrades, you will be seeing the commonly unseen, feeling the commonly unfelt, and hearing the commonly unheard. We seek to provide unique care so you can have greater self-reported healing and quality of life and a You that is More.

We invite you to continue with a consultation, examination, and assessment with a subsequent review of your doctor’s findings and recommendations for you. You can then make a fully informed choice for care.

The “Network” spinal adjustments called spinal entrainments are unique from the more commonly applied manipulative applications. At times Dr. _____ may use other chiropractic or healing approaches, when deemed beneficial.

If you have any concerns at this time or in the future, please share them with your chiropractor or the staff. Please also share your healing, and transformations and “magical” changes that you are experiencing in your life including others around you.

I, _____ have read this document about our Collaborative Journey and care. and YES, I consciously choose

- to be assessed for and
- to receive more unique Healing and Life experiences and strategies through agreeing to collaborate with the recommendations for care at
- _____ (office name check box) and
- to receive further information on the above-mentioned topics and strategies

Print Name

Location & Date Signature